Ferticlay is a sustainability startup that focuses on Innovating waste-based clay products across the design and build industry, creating more liveable and earth-loving cities. We are looking for people who are fun-loving, open-minded and creative! As we are an early-stage startup, we are very flexible and open to change. We seek the value in the lost, last and least, in clay, food waste and people. Hence, we place a lot of emphasis on being inclusive in our hiring. We hope to give whoever feels outcasted or forgotten a chance to showcase and develop their abilities and talents here at Ferticlay.
